It's that time of year again, the Miami Heat are in the playoffs. As Heat fans ourselves, we're buzzing with excitement over the prospect of a "three-peat." As the playoffs progress, and with the Heat tying the Indiana Pacers in game two last night, Heat Nation grows hungry for another dominant performance.

Being a fan can take a lot out of you; it requires a lot of energy to cheer for LeBron James, Dwyane Wade and the crew as they battle it out against the best teams in the league. Bosh is a big man, and it probably takes a lot to fill him up. With this in mind, the "Bosh Burger" consists of baby swiss, exotic mushrooms, caramelized onions and truffle oil. This will definitely keep you satisfied as the series heats up.

Birdman Sandwich

Understanding that burgers are not for everyone, Rok:Brgr got creative with one slam-dunk of a sandwich named after Chris Anderson. "The Birdman Sandwich" is a grilled chicken breast covered with chipotle gouda cheese, smoked bacon, roasted corn and black bean salsa.
