

BOOK A MIAMI FOOD TOUR

THE QUEST FOR THE BEST BURGER – ROK:BRGR

By Miami Culinary Tours January 15, 2014

As a burger enthusiast, I'm always looking out for the next new burger that can top the last one. As of now, the only that has not been beaten has been at ROK:BRGR. This restaurant is considered a gastropub, and the one that I visited was located in South Miami. Previously a Segafredo, the relatively new restaurant has been getting a lot of praise from my friends who live around that area. Seeing how everyone kept raving about their burgers, I decided to give my input and try it out myself. There, my friend and I started off by sharing the fried calamari tossed in sweet chili sauce and cherry peppers. It was surprisingly spicy, but tasty nonetheless. I washed it all down with the inhouse concoction called "Peach Cobbler" which was peach vodka, frangelico, a splash of cream, and graham crumbles rimmed the cup. After a short wait, we had our burgers served; I had something called the "King James" burger. It was made up of angus beef and it had brie cheese, kurobuta pork belly, red onion marmalade, and truffle aioli. Needless to say, it was delicious. Paired with the burger, I ordered the truffle fries that were sprinkled with parmesan cheese and parsley – also very good. My friend had the "Morning Glory" which was a basic burger, but with American cheese, maple pepper bacon, and a fried egg. Hers was as equally delicious, the bacon adding extra savoriness thanks to the peppercorn.

I definitely recommend this place not only for their burgers, but overall service and atmosphere. The restaurant had an intimate setting; small, dimly lit, and had music blasting from the walls, and their tvs playing the current sports game on. Most of their indoor seating were high tops, but regular seating was available outdoors as well. Prices were reasonable; the burgers were huge and ranged from $11-16, and we went on a Monday when burgers were half off!

Written by Miami Food Blogger: Caroline Shalabi

f Share t Tweet f Like 0 g+ Pinterest

« Biscayne Commons Presents Weekly Live Music Series 'Savor The Sounds' »

» Growing Up on Peruvian Cuisine «

COMMENTS

Your email address will not be published.

NAME

EMAIL

WEBSITE

COMMENT

POST COMMENT

Miami Culinary Tours

google.com/+MiamiCulinaryTours

g+ Follow +1

+2,346

CATEGORIES

- Culinary Food Events in Miami
- Culinary Products
- Everything About Food
- Food Markets in Miami
- Food Tour Photo Galleries
- Food We Buy in Miami
- Guide to Little Havana in Miami
- Guide to Miami Beach
- Guide to Midtown and Design District
- Guide to Wynwood in Miami
- Miami Food Related News
- Miami Food Tour Reviews
- Miami Newsletter
- Miami Restaurant Reviews
- Our Team
- Private Group Tours
- Restaurant Coupons

RECENT POSTS

- Marlie's Delights
- S&S Diner
- Rippers and Sliders at Jersey Dawg
- Dim Ssam a Gogo
- Booze, Brunch & Boobs with Chef Rapicavoli, Alberto Cabrera and

SEARCH

ARCHIVES

Select Month

INTERESTING STUFF

- Places Around Florida
- The Travel Chica

TAGS

Andrew Carmellini Angelo Elia Art Basel Bit Steak chef Coconut Grove Coral Gables Culinary Tours Design District Devon Seafood Downtown Miami extra virgin olive oil FL Florida Fontainebleau Fontainebleau Miami Fontainebleau Miami Beach Food Food Tour Fort Lauderdale Giorgio Rapicavoli happy hour Lincoln Road Meat market miamiMiami Beachmiami culinary tours Miami Spice Michelle Bernstein Midtown Miami Mother's Day Peruvian Cuisine Quattro Gastronomia Italiana Rusty Pelican South Beach Food Tour Florida Sunday Brunch Toro Toro tour Wynwood Whole Foods Market Wines Beach Hotel & Residences Wynwood

WE HAVE BEEN FEATURED

SECTIONS

- Food Tours
- Photos
- FAQs
- Press
- About Us
- Private Group Tours
- Contact
- Blog

OUR TOURS

- South Beach Food Tour
- Wynwood Food Tour
- Little Havana Food Tour
- Private Group Tours
- Cuban-Inspired Food Tour
- SoBe Cocktail Tour
- Miami City Food Tour
- Wynwood, Midtown & Design District Food Tour
- Gift Certificates

THE COMPANY

- Privacy Policy
- Terms & Conditions
- Partners & Friends
- Affiliates
- Careers
- Sitemap

FIND US AT

Online - Click here to get help +